1. General

The operation of this CD-ROM requires the use of Acrobat Reader 4.0 or higher. Screens shown in these instructions are taken from the English version of the manual. The functionality of the screens in other language versions is exactly the same.

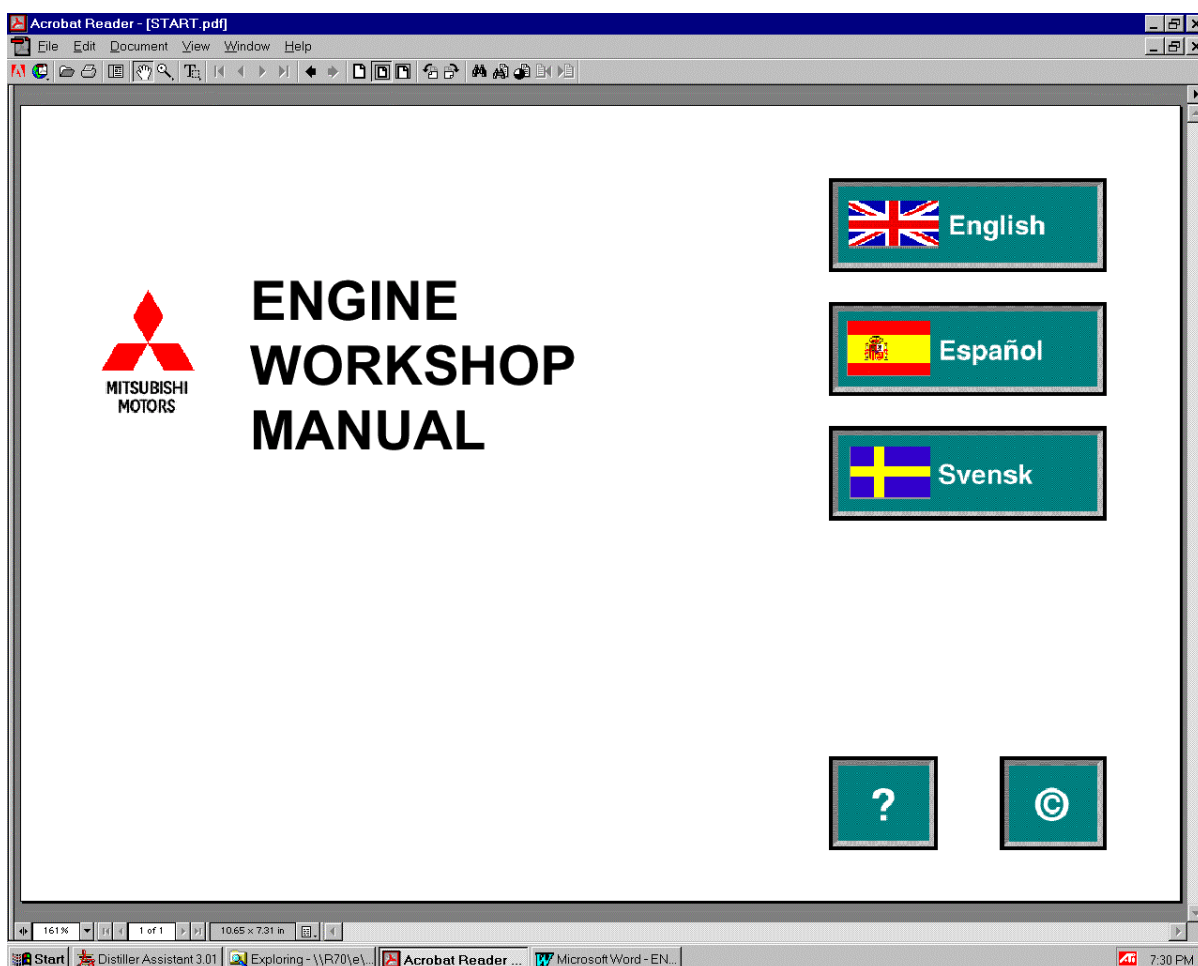

2. Acrobat Reader Toolbar.

Listed below is a short explanation for the Acrobat Reader toolbar. For more detailed information, please refer to the help function of the Acrobat Reader menu at the top of the screen.

Number	Description
A	Open file.
B	Print file. All pages will be printed. To print one page or a number of pages, use the print function from the file menu in the menu bar.
C	Displays and hides the bookmarks. The bookmarks should always be visible to navigate through the manual.
D	Selects the hand tool. Use this function during normal operation.
E	Selects the zoom-in tool. This function enables you to enlarge parts of the viewed page by putting the mouse pointer at the corner of the area to be enlarged and dragging a box around the area while holding the left mouse button.
G	Go to the first page of the currently displayed group.
H	Go to the previous page.
I	Go to the next page.
J	Go to the last page of the currently displayed group.
K	Go to the previous view.
L	Return to the next view.
M	Sets the zoom of the viewed document to 100%.
N	Makes the current page fit into the window.
O	Makes the visible width of the current page fit inside the window.
*	Functions not required to operate this CD-ROM.

3. Language selection screen.

3.1. Selecting a language.

Place the mouse pointer on the required language button. Click the left mouse button once to select the required language.

The correct language will be selected automatically and the screen showing the cover page will be displayed.

3.2. User instructions.

Place the mouse pointer on the  button. Click the left mouse button once to select the user instructions.

The next screen will be displayed. On this screen the user instructions in the desired language can be selected as described above.

To return to the language selection screen for the User Instructions, place the mouse pointer on the  button on top of the document and click the left mouse button once.

To return to the above shown screen, place the mouse pointer on the  button and click the left mouse button once.

3.3. Copyright.

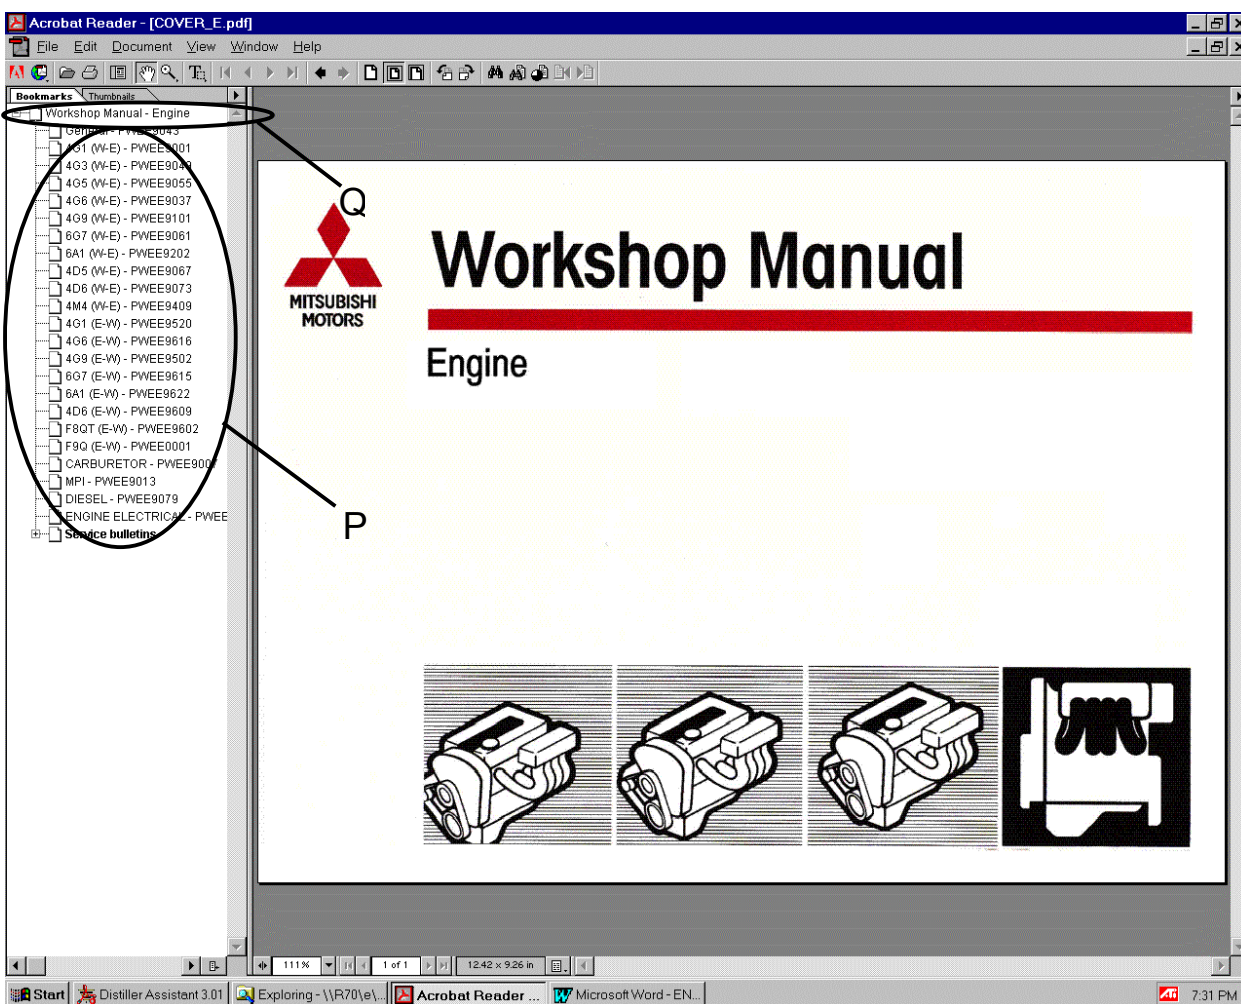

Place the mouse pointer on the  button. Click the left mouse button once to select the copyright statement.

The next screen will be started up. On this screen the Copyright statement in the desired language can be selected as described above.

To return to the language selection screen for the Copyright, put the mouse pointer on the  button on top of the document and click the left mouse button once.

To return to the above shown screen, put the mouse pointer on the  button and click the left mouse button once.

4. Cover screen.

4.1. Starting up the manual.

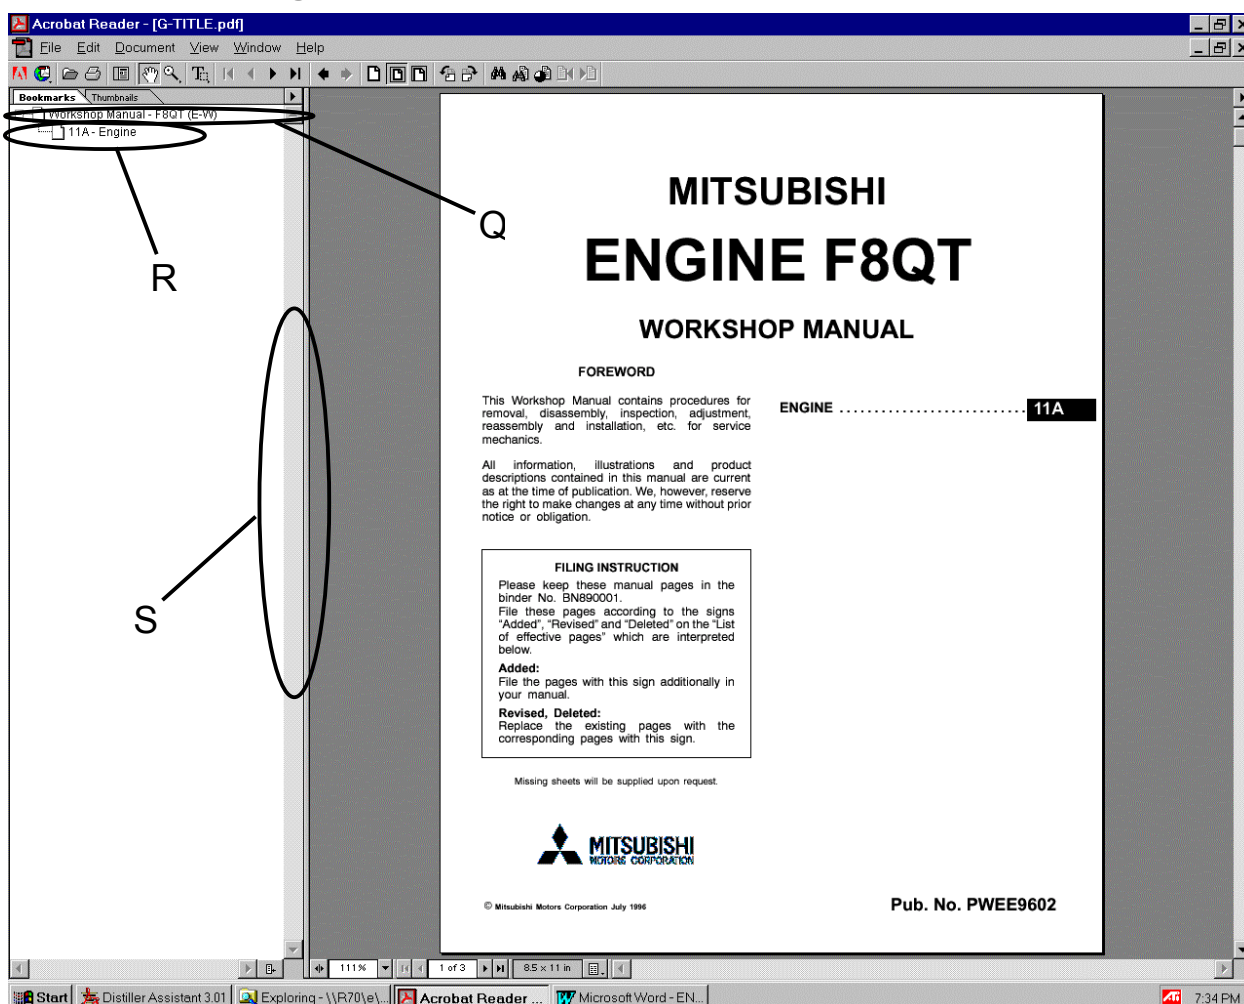

Place the mouse pointer on bookmark "P". Click the left mouse button once to open the manual.

The correct manual will be selected automatically and the index page will be displayed.

4.2. Returning to the language selection screen.

In case the wrong language is selected, return to the previous screen by putting the mouse pointer on Workshop Manual bookmark "Q" and clicking the left mouse button once.

5. Foreword page.

5.1. Selecting a Group.

Place the mouse pointer on the bookmark of the required Group in the navigation panel (area "R"). Click the left mouse button once.
The correct group will be selected automatically.

5.2. Returning to the cover screen.

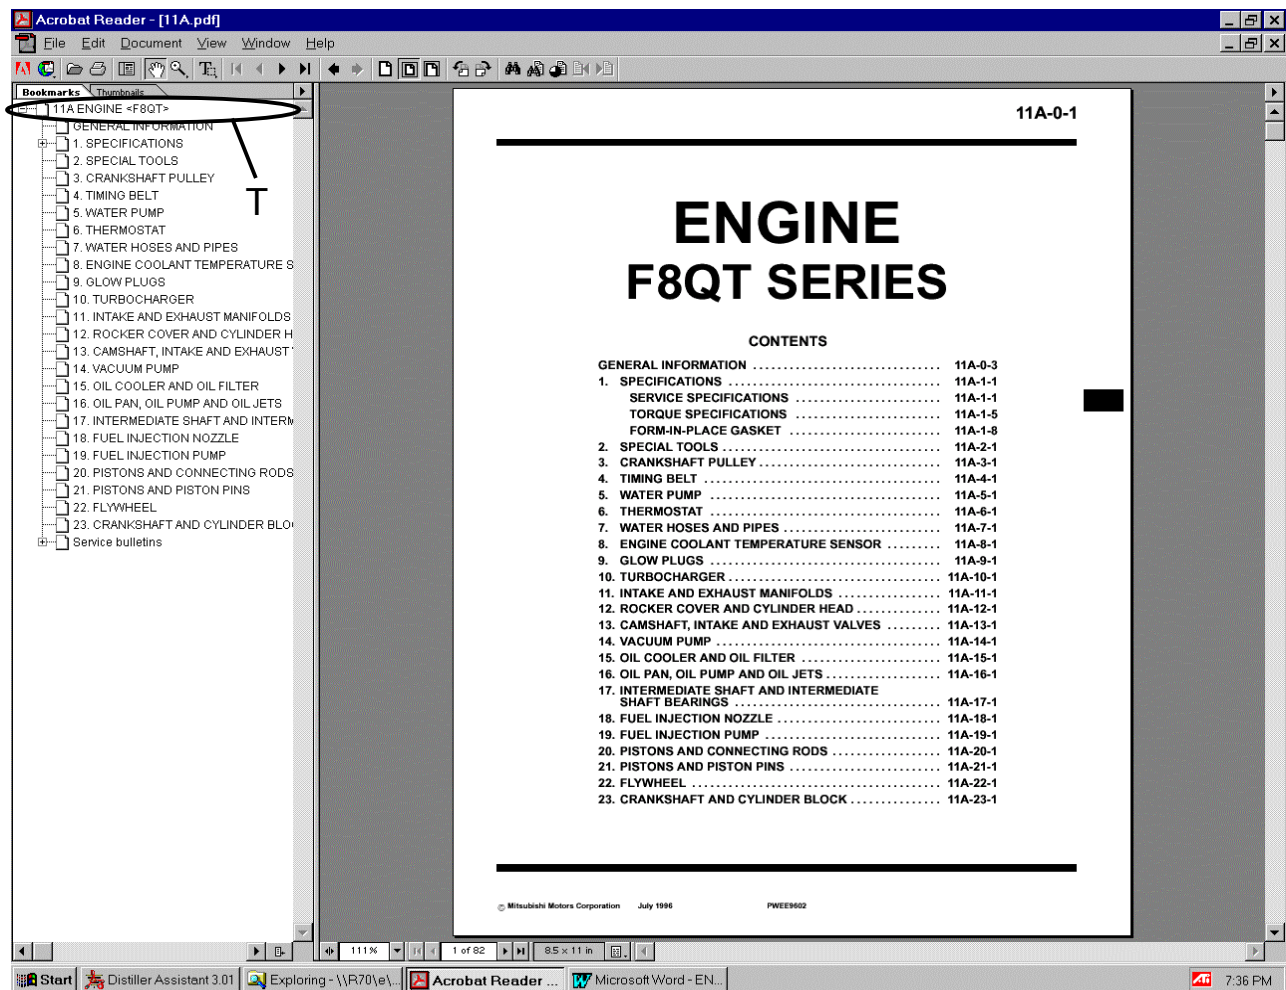

Place the mouse pointer on Workshop Manual bookmark "Q" and click the left mouse button once.

5.3. Changing the width of the navigation panel.

The width of the navigation panel can be changed as desired by placing the mouse pointer on the vertical screen divider "S" and dragging it to the desired position while keeping the left mouse button depressed.
